Certified Organic Extracts

We offer an extensive line of aqueous and anhydrous extracts designated by the “RS” or “SNO” suffix. The “RS” extracts are certified organic botanicals that are extracted using water and a rice solution. These extracts are truly unique because they contain an organic compliant, alcohol-free preservative system. The “SNO” product range utilizes sunflower oil as the solvent to create anhydrous extracts.

Glycerin-Based Extracts

Each RS and SNO extract has a glycerin-based alternative that is not certified as a whole but contains organic plant matter. This way, the plant material can be denoted as organic on an ingredients listing. These extracts combine the highest-quality feedstock with the utility and reliability of glycerin.

Certified Organic Juice Powders

One of the growing areas of interest amongst organic cosmetic formulators is the use of certified organic juices. These juices are as close as one can get to utilizing a whole fruit in a cosmetic application. When manufacturing, we simply press the certified organic fruit that we obtain from our growers for juice and freeze dry. By obtaining only the freshest certified organic produce to make our freeze-dried juices we are able to essentially “lock in” all of the benefits that the fruit contains when it is first harvested.

Certified Organic Bioferments

Biofermentation is one of the oldest methods used to preserve food. It is understood that this ancient technique increases bioavailability by releasing compounds from the plant matrix where they are typically bound. This allows us to isolate phyto-actives to maximize the efficacy of the botanicals used in certified organic cosmetic and personal care applications.

Certified Organic Delivery Systems

Using organic phospholipids, and the latest encapsulation technologies, Arbor Organic Technologies has developed several novel delivery systems. Although enhancing the penetration of actives is the primary benefit, many of the Arbor Organic Technologies delivery systems also provide additional secondary benefits.
